

The 2024 US Presidential Election Eclipse

By Kenneth Field (@kennethfield)

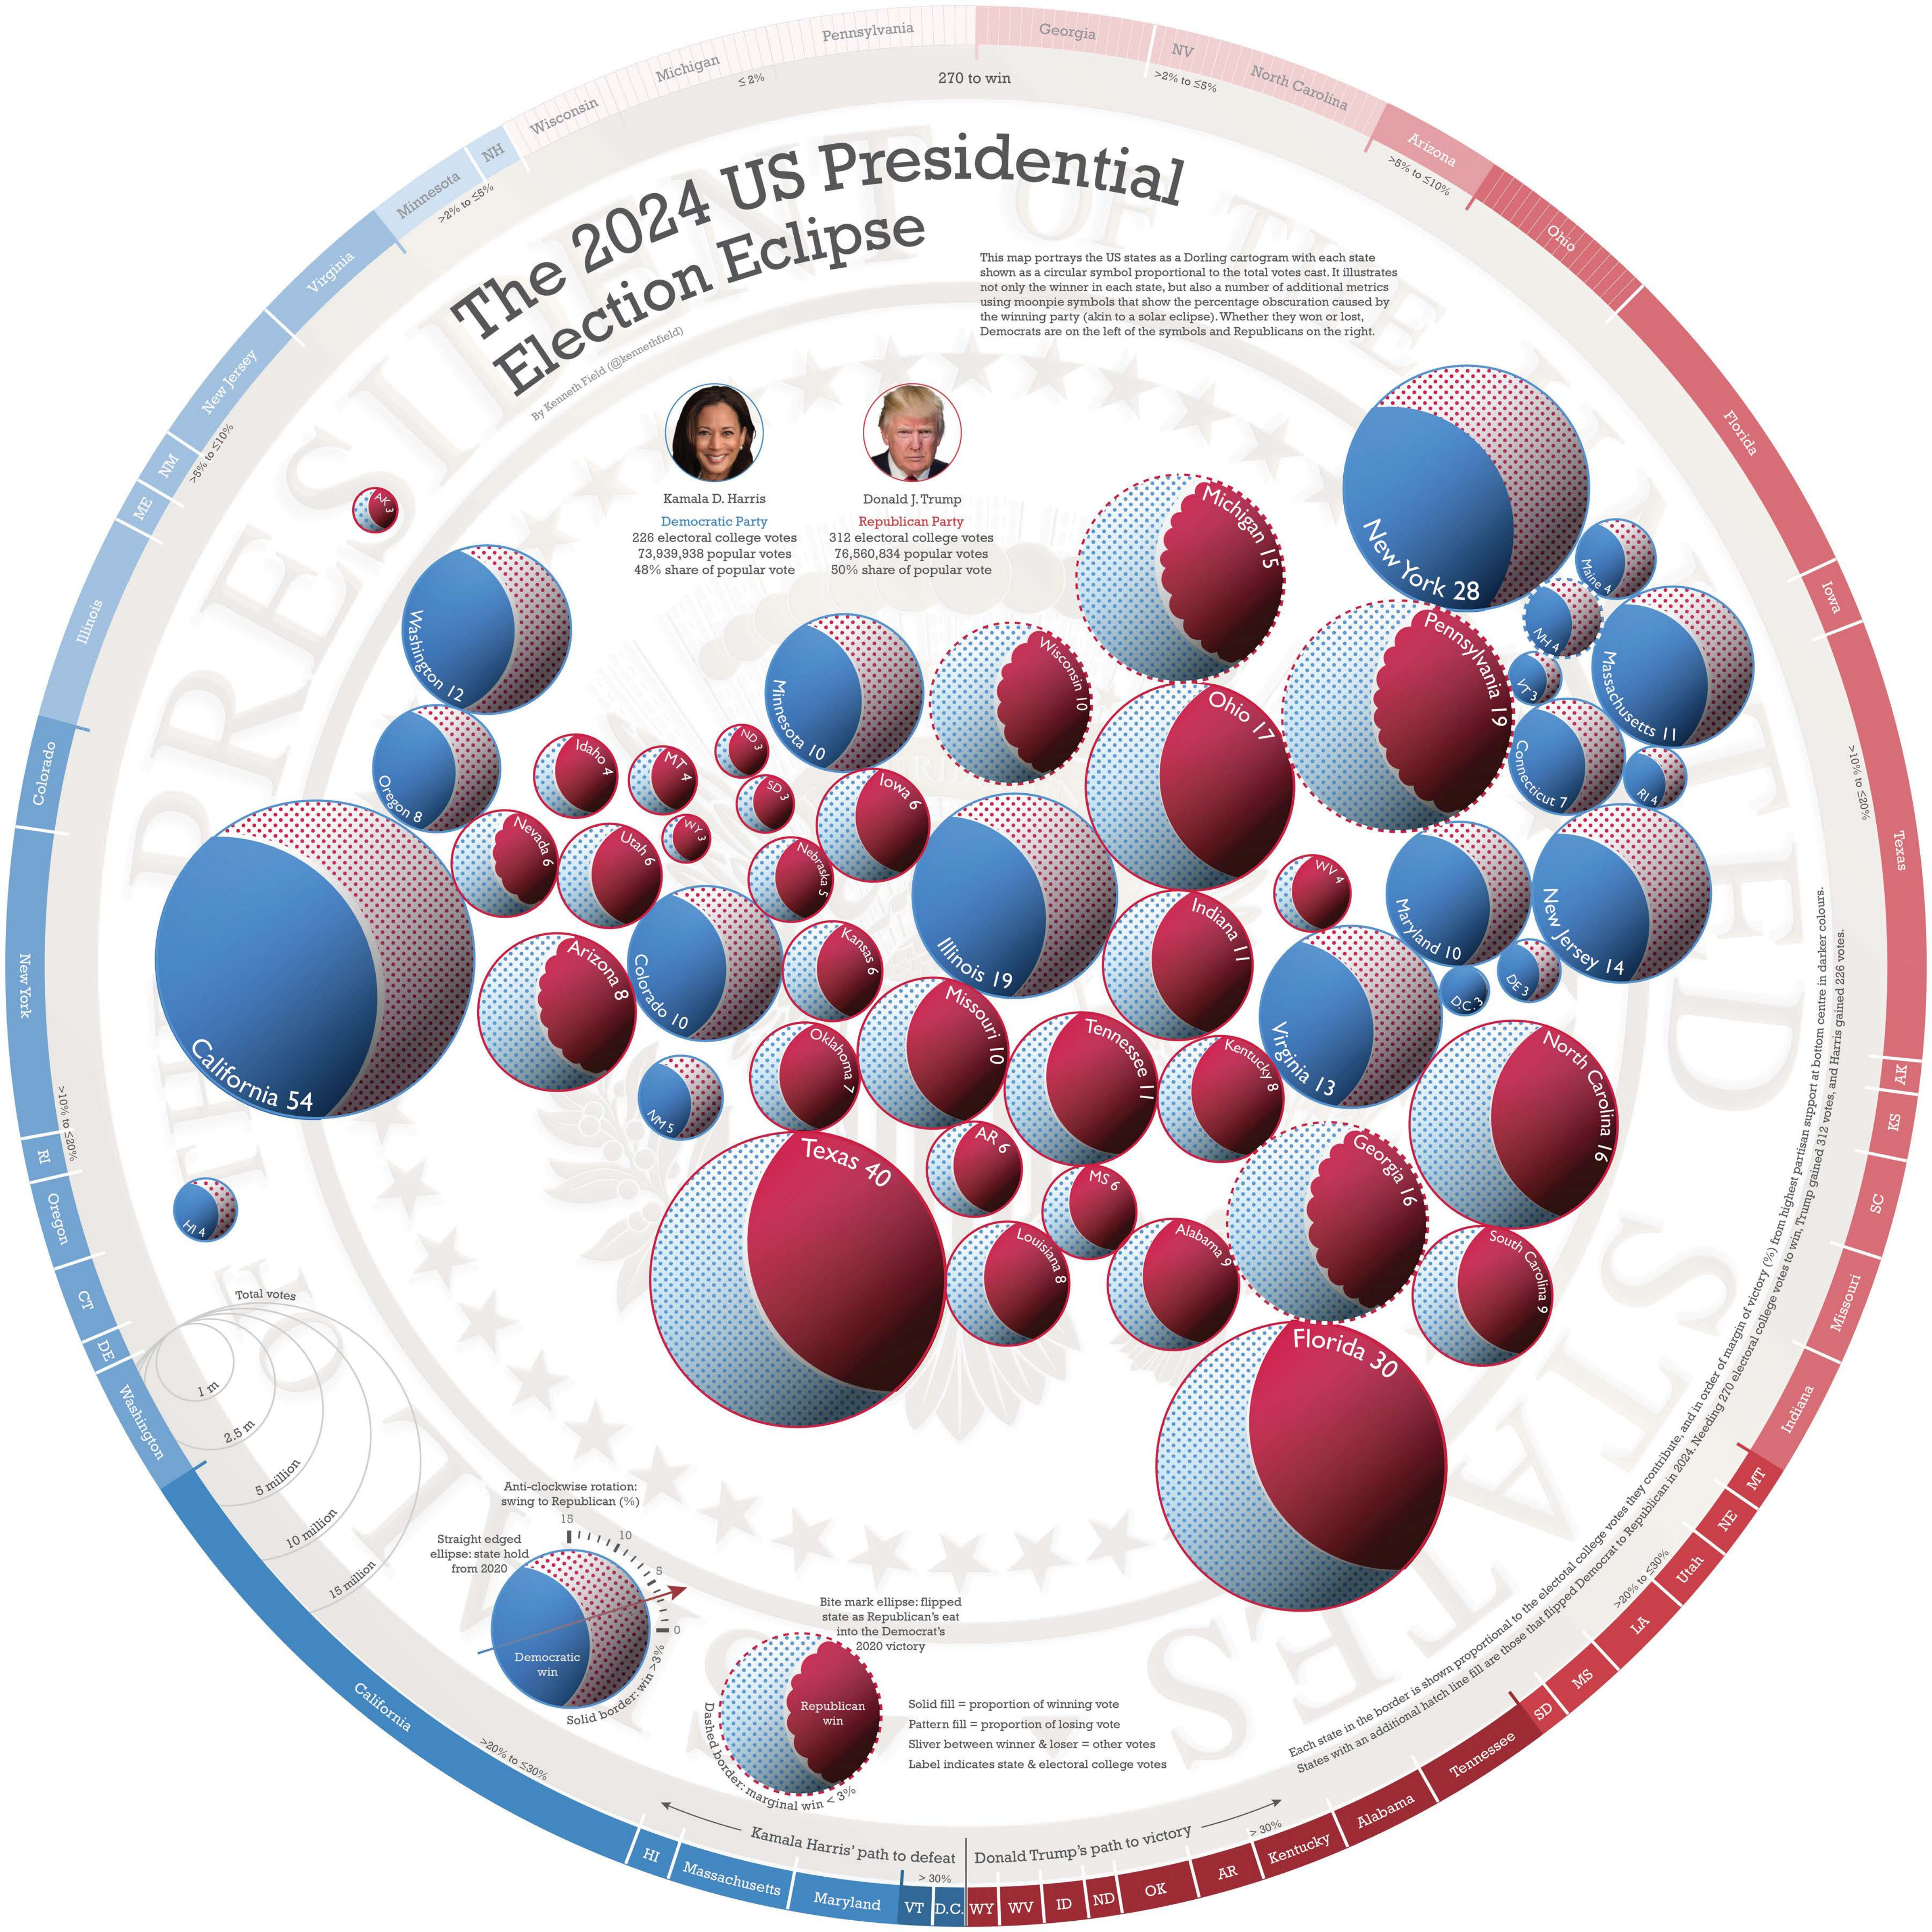

This map portrays the US states as a Dorling cartogram with each state shown as a circular symbol proportional to the total votes cast. It illustrates not only the winner in each state, but also a number of additional metrics using moonpie symbols that show the percentage obscuration caused by the winning party (akin to a solar eclipse). Whether they won or lost, Democrats are on the left of the symbols and Republicans on the right.

Kamala D. Harris
Democratic Party
226 electoral college votes
73,939,938 popular votes
48% share of popular vote

Donald J. Trump
Republican Party
312 electoral college votes
76,560,834 popular votes
50% share of popular vote
